Dog savages teen as its owner flees

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

A TEENAGE boy is recovering after being viciously mauled by a dog in a terrifying attack which left him in hospital for four days.

Brandon Elston (14), of Mark Hall Moors, was approaching Sainsbury's from the direction of Hornbeams on Thursday when a man holding a "big black dog" on a tight leash suddenly let go of the animal.

The dog launched itself at the teenager - who was with his two young cousins - clamping its jaws around his wrist and puncturing the radial artery.

The injury caused so much bleeding that Brandon's 12-year-old cousin fainted.

The dog's owner then ran off with his animal while a witness telephoned for an ambulance.

Brandon's mother, Sharon, told the Star: "His injuries are horrific; the bite must be at least 5cm deep."

"I was even advised by police not to go to the scene as there was so much blood."

Brandon was taken to nearby Princess Alexandra Hospital for emergency treatment before being transferred to Chelmsford's Broomfield Hospital for surgery.

He was in theatre for around three hours and doctors were so concerned about the extent of his injuries they kept him in overnight for observation.

The Passmores Academy student is currently preparing for his GCSEs but will have to take time off to recover. The school has provided him with an iPad so he can stay on top of his work.

"We're obviously worried he'll fall behind with his work but the school have been brilliant," Mrs Elston added.

Essex Police confirmed they are investigating the incident.

A force spokesman said: "Officers are in the process of organising when a full statement can be taken from the victim."

Anyone who witnessed the incident should call police on the 101 non-emergency number.

Tesco representatives to address meeting on impact of decision to axe distribution centre

SENIOR representatives of supermarket giant Tesco are expected to attend a public meeting tomorrow (Friday) to discuss the social and economic impact of the closure of its distribution centre in Harlow.

The firm announced plans to close the fresh food depot in Pinnacles last month, putting up to 800 jobs at risk.

Town MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson will address the meeting, which is taking place at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way.

Also lined up to speak are Tony Durcan, the council's cabinet portfolio holder for regeneration & enterprise, and Essex Euro MP and former Harlow Council leader Richard Howitt.

Cllr Wilkinson, who will chair the proceedings, said: "The closure of the distribution centre will affect many local workers and their families, local businesses and the local economy."

"The aim of the meeting is to bring people together to talk about the impact the closure will have and to look at what can be done to minimise this impact. I know that local politicians want to ensure that those affected are supported and this can be best achieved by bringing the public, politicians and Tesco together."

There will be an opportunity for those in the audience to ask questions during the meeting, which starts at 4pm and is expected to last 90 minutes.

Panels given powers to recommend speed cuts

ESSEX County Council has pledged to provide support for lower speed limits following a comprehensive review of its speed management policy.

The investigation was announced by county councillor Derrick Louis, cabinet member for highways and transportation, last year in response to public concerns about road safety.

As a result of the review, the 12 Essex Local Highways Panels will now be able to recommend speed reduction schemes for implementation.

This could include new 20 mph zones on local roads and 20 mph limits outside schools. The new policy will also recognise proposals supported by communities and local members.

Clr Louis said: "I am delighted that we have been able to review the application of our speed management policy. By giving Local Highways Panels the power to put forward speed reduction schemes we will be more responsive to the needs of local communities and highways users."

Hotel to reduce power use during Earth Hour

THE Park Inn in Southern Way, Harlow, will be marking the WWF's National Earth Hour on Saturday by switching to minimal lighting and using candles as an alternative light source.

Decorative and mood lighting will be switched off from 8.30pm as part of the hotel chain's commitment to 'responsible business and think planet' activity.

The bar and restaurant areas will be lit by candles and the main reception and corridors will have minimal lighting.

Shop in a purple haze

A CHARITY shop in Harlow will be decked out in purple on Tuesday (March 26) in support of a campaign to raise public awareness about epilepsy.

Staff at the St Elizabeth's shop in Staple Tye will also wear clothes of the appropriate colour to mark International Purple Day.

Shoppers will be offered cakes and coffee and invited to jump in a bath filled with purple water to raise money for the charity.

Cats wake women sleeping in burning flat

THREE women rescued from a burning flat may owe their lives to their pet cats, according to firefighters.

Crews were called to the address in Pennymead, Harlow, in the early hours of Sunday morning after the women became trapped by the blaze.

They had been asleep when the fire started at the front of their property - and were only woken when they heard their cats howling in distress.

Firefighters wearing breathing apparatus told the women to remain inside the property until they had extinguished the flames.

They then forced their way through the fire-damaged front door before leading the women to safety.

Crews later re-entered the property to ventilate the smoke-filled ground floor flat with high pressure fans.

The casualties, which included a man living in the flat above, were found to be suffering from the effects of smoke inhalation and were given oxygen before being handed over to the care of paramedics.

Although the council flat had been fitted with a smoke alarm, the occupants told firefighters they could not recall it sounding - and said they would not have woken up had it not been for their cats.

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

A joint police and fire service investigation is now under way to establish the cause of the blaze.

Station officer Steve Pritchard, incident commander, said: "The fire was by the front door of the flat, which was the only way out."

"But the three women inside did exactly the right thing. They stayed in a bedroom with the door closed to keep smoke to a minimum."

"When we got to the property we told them to stay inside until the fire was out and the flat ventilated. Then it was a matter of leading them out to safety."

The road was closed off by police while firefighters tackled the blaze.

A spokesman for the force said: "We will be working with the fire service in an investigation to find out the cause of the fire."

Councillor Rod Truan, cabinet-member for housing, said the council had provided its tenants with temporary accommodation while the property was being assessed.

"We are working with the fire and police services and expect to carry out an inspection of the home soon to assess the damage," he added.

Dad's TV plea to catch Barn Mead killers

THE doctor who survived a house blaze which claimed the lives of his wife and five children has made an emotional television appeal for information.

Detectives investigating the deaths of six members of the Shakoore family following the fire at Barn Mead in the early hours of October 15 last year are hoping last night's harrowing edition of BBC Crimewatch will jog the memories of potential witnesses.

The programme featured a reconstruction of events leading up to the blaze alongside a moving interview with Dr Abdul Shakoore, the sole survivor of the tragedy.

His wife, Dr Sabah Usmani, and their five children - Hira (12), Sohaib

EMOTIONAL: Dr Abdul Shakoore during his interview on the BBC's Crimewatch programme, which was broadcast last night

(11), Muneeb (9), Rayyan (6) and Maheen (3) - all died following the fire, which tore through the ground floor of their end-of-terrace house and sent thick, choking smoke throughout the house.

Dr Shakoore jumped from a bedroom window in a desperate attempt to get help but was unable to save his family from the inferno.

In the programme, Dr Shakoore recalled how he tried to save his family. "I shouted a lot 'please help, please... please help me'. How could I lose my family in this way?" he said.

"I want the answer, why my family, why somebody has done that... to ruin my life."

Police are treating the deaths as murder and Detective Superintendent Rob Vinson made further appeals to the public for information on a burglary which took place in the hours before the fire was started, as well as the blaze itself.

Operation Shakespeare is one of the largest investigations ever undertaken by Essex Police. Anyone with information, however insignificant it may seem, should contact detectives on (01277) 266869.

SIR, The majority of people know that the 'bedroom tax' is not an actual tax. Regardless of what we call it, some of the most vulnerable people living in Harlow will be out of pocket each month.

Kevin Wilson (Letters, March 14) makes an excellent point - these decisions are taken by people who will never be in the position of those affected by some of these nasty cuts.

Robert Halfon proudly states the Government has created extra funds to help protect the vulnerable. However, these extra funds are minuscule compared to what they replace.

How can any Conservative shout about protecting the vulnerable when these cuts are part of an overall reduction in spending which includes sending people with terminal cancer back to work and sending the unemployed to work for multi-million pound corporations?

Mr Halfon also voted for student fees to rise and for increasing the VAT rate, which disproportionately affects poorer members of society.

Louis Nisbet

Bentley Drive, Harlow

Exempt the disabled from this hated tax

SIR, So Robert Halfon wants us to know the facts about the bedroom tax. Well here are the facts - ministers have said nothing to guarantee disabled children will be protected from this hated bedroom tax.

He has said nothing to almost half a million households that are home to a disabled person who are set to lose over £700 at exactly the same time as millionaires receive a massive tax cut.

The bedroom tax, due to come into effect in April, will be applied to working age claimants in social housing deemed to have more bedrooms than they require.

Tenants affected will face a 14 per cent cut in housing benefit for the first 'excess' bedroom and 25 per cent where two or more bedrooms are 'under-occupied'. The Government estimates the average household affected will lose £14 a week which in total will save the exchequer £500m a year.

Harlow Council has tried to mitigate the affect of this but so little is provided that the most it can alleviate the bedroom tax with the amount of money it has been awarded is about £7 a year.

The Government must now act to exempt carers who cannot share with disabled partners, disabled children who cannot share with siblings, and families who need space for medical equipment or home adaptations. These families should not be forced to appeal to a limited pot of discretionary funding - they must be exempt from the changes.

Cuts will leave the most vulnerable out of pocket

Photo of the week

CONTINUING the recent theme of wildlife is this week's photo of a robin in full song, taken by 16-year-old Emily Leonard.

"I thought I would share with Star readers this photo I took of a robin in my garden in Rushes Mead," writes Emily. "It was taken on Tuesday, March 5 and it's just a shame that you can't hear the beautiful song it was singing."

If you have a photo taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section, we would love to see it.

Email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

The real irony is that even if people want to down size to small accommodation, apart from all the expense that would entail for vulnerable people with very little money, there is simply not the housing available in Harlow to do this.

Cllr Mike Danvers (Labour)
Tunmmeade, Harlow

Living in a climate of divide and rule

SIR, We recognise these are difficult times that we are living in and we know that the agenda set by the current Tory government is a plan to make those that can least afford it pay for the deficit.

Cuts in benefits affect thousands of low income families and those with disability suffer badly through new policies and reassessments. Now comes the iniquitous 'bedroom tax' to recoup housing benefit, making an intrusion into people's homes and privacy.

Each day it seems brings a new onslaught on those least able to fight back. However, perhaps the most pernicious is the climate of 'divide and rule'; when groups in the community are told it is the fault of other groups that there are cuts to services and the availability of jobs and houses.

Never is the emphasis laid on the banker, the tax evaders, corporate Britain or the renewing of Trident. Harlow Council's new policy to exclude lawbreakers from the housing register is again following the slogan of divide and rule.

The council needs to be seen as a principled, caring group holding to core values of a Labour council. It must not become tarnished by Tory morality. We need them to be innovative and able to show with certainty whose side they are on. The recent action towards welfare rights was appalling. The council needs to negotiate and arrive at a solution which leaves no-one hurt. This town badly needs the professional expertise of the staff at the Advice Centre.

Sheila and Doug Marchant
Ladyshot, Harlow

Take me back to the Harlow of the 1980s

SIR, Having read the latest news about companies in Harlow folding and looking back some 20 years or so, I can remember when it was a wonderful town with plenty of work.

We had a great market where you could buy almost anything and we had engineering companies where there was plenty of work for all.

But what have we now? Just retail and land being swallowed up by new housing estates. Take me back to the 1980s.

Ms J. Stansfield,
address supplied

Make culprits pay for damage they cause

SIR, I am in agreement with your correspondent who wrote about car owners parking on the pavements.

This is selfish and inconsiderate and proof that a certain percentage of car owners in Harlow have no consideration for pedestrians who just want to go about their daily life on foot.

The most selfish thing about car owners who park on the pavement is that they don't give a damn about people with prams and buggies, pensioners, the disabled and blind people.

Why don't the police or the council start cracking down on these car owners? Those who do park on the pavements without permission should be made to pay for the damages done by their vehicles. Harlow seems to be the only town that lets car owners get away with this offence. Pavements were laid for pedestrians not for cars to park on.

So come on Harlow Council and Harlow Police, act now and bring this selfishness to an end.

Daniel Long
Longfield, Harlow

I was a victim of pavement parkers

SIR, After reading the letter in last week's Star about penalising pavement parkers, I wonder if it occurs to drivers that apart from restricting access for pedestrians, that they are causing damage to our pavements.

These are not up to the job of supporting a ton or more of metal being driven on to them. Mostly pavements are surfaced with asphalt or paving stones, which crack. This results in pavements becoming a hazard to pedestrians, which can result in people being injured through tripping over.

Eight months ago I suffered a trip, which has left me crocked since then. It was daylight when I fell and damaged my shoulder and arm, which resulted in ending up in A&E.

I cracked a bone in my arm and suffered several pulled muscles. Shortly after my whole arm was blue from the massive bruising, and loss of feeling because of nerve damage. I still have only use of two fingers and a thumb; most of the rest is numb and lacking in power. There is still a question mark over whether I will regain full use of my arm.

This is the reality of inconsiderate parking. I have been unable to drive and had to give up my car, resulting in me having to carry all my shopping with difficulty and having to rely on buses to take me out of town.

A sign of the times is I have had very few offers of help!

In East Park most of our grassed areas look like ploughed fields with mud being dragged onto our pavement areas by parkers. What about sending the bill for repairs to the offenders?

Jo West
East Park, Harlow

Join us and carry a can of compassion

SIR, We are all aware of the desperately hard times so many face. You have only to read the Star week by week.

This year the churches of Harlow are inviting everyone to 'carry a can of compassion' as we walk with the cross on Good Friday (March 29). On the cross, Jesus carried the can for us and we want to carry a can of compassion for others.

All are most welcome. If you are able, bring a can of food with you. The tins will be gathered together and given to Harlow Foodbank.

The walk leaves St Paul's Church (next to the Playhouse) at 10.15am and finishes in the Harvey Centre at 11.30am when we will assemble for around half-an-hour and the tins collected.

If you cannot join the walk do come at 11.30.

Ambulance trust facing performance probe

THE performance of the East of England Ambulance Service Trust is to come under the spotlight in a Government review following criticism of response times.

A Department of Health spokesman said "serious performance issues" were being tackled by the trust itself, but that the review would "independently verify" that correct action was being taken.

The review will be led by West Midlands Ambulance Service chief executive Anthony Marsh.

EAST chairman Maria Ball and Mr Morgan were called to Westminster on Thursday to explain to local MPs what was being done to speed up response times.

Health minister Lord Howe said: "There have been concerns about the performance of this ambulance service for some time."

"Whilst the management team have put measures in place to address these issues, I believe it is essential that a review now takes place to examine whether these actions are both adequate and soundly based."

"I am in no doubt that this is the right course of action to ensure that patients and the public in the East of England get the high standard of emergency service that they are entitled to expect."

A statement from the East of England Ambulance Service said: "Anthony Marsh is carrying out a review on behalf of the trust to gain an independent insight into what we do, how we do it and most importantly how we could improve our service."

"His focus will be how to get quick results to ease pressure, in particular improving performance in emergency operations."

"It is hoped at this stage that the review will be completed by the end of April."

Paramedics have spoken out in recent months about cuts to the service which they say is "putting patients lives at risk."

MP praises 'cost of living' Budget

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THOUSANDS of hard-pressed Harlow families have been handed a tax break in George Osborne's new Budget - but many will be left reeling by welfare reforms which will see some benefit payments cut back or scrapped altogether.

In his annual address to the House of Commons yesterday (Wednesday), the Chancellor unveiled plans to increase the personal tax allowance for low-paid workers to £10,000 from next year - making the average worker £700 a year better off than they were when the coalition Government took power in 2010.

There was also good news for motorists as Mr Osborne announced plans to scrap a planned 3p rise in fuel duty, while tax on beer was reduced by 1p a pint in a move welcomed by pubs and breweries.

Elsewhere, corporation tax will be cut to 20 per cent in 2015, while a new employment allowance will cut National Insurance bills by £2,000 for all businesses.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon - whose campaign to drive down the cost of fuel on the nation's forecourts was praised by the Chancellor during his Budget speech - welcomed the spending plans as a "cost-of-living Budget".

"This Budget has put fuel in the tank of the British economy," he said.

"I'm particularly glad that the Chancellor has listened again and helped millions of car-owners and businesses who are struggling to fill up their family car."

"Fuel duty is a toxic tax which hits the poorest Brits the hardest, but this Budget proves that Conservatives are doing everything possible to keep petrol and diesel prices down."

He added: "The Chancellor has also put money in the pockets of workers by raising the income tax threshold to £10,000 and providing tax-free childcare for working mothers."

"Local businesses will benefit, too, with a £2,000 tax credit on their NI contributions and a 1 per cent cut in corporation tax."

But many residents will still be concerned by the impact of real-term cuts to their benefit payments under measures already announced by the Government, while public sector workers will again have pay increases capped at 1 per cent.

And Labour parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride was not so optimistic as Mr Halfon.

"This is a more of the same budget from a downgraded Chancellor," she said.

"Things are not getting better for people in Harlow, and we have higher borrowing and lower growth nationally; growth is down last year, this year, next year and in 2015."

"George Osborne is giving with one hand and taking far more with the other."

"While people in Harlow are already feeling the squeeze, he is also making 7,200 hard-working families worse off through his striver's tax, and taking money from pensioners through his granny tax, while giving millionaires a tax cut."

Closure threat hangs over town tax office

UNION bosses claim the tax inquiry office in Harlow could close later this year as part of a Government shake-up of the service.

Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs confirmed last Thursday that 13 face-to-face bases in the north will shut this year and the department has now launched a consultation on the future of the whole network.

However, the Public and Commercial Services Union warned the closure of the Harlow office would cut off vital personal support for pensioners and other vulnerable taxpayers.

Part of the office in Crown Gate was closed in 2010 and the Government is now proposing that all tax advice and enquiry work is moved elsewhere in a bid to provide a "more modern and accessible service".

No final decision will be made until the consultation, which runs until May 24, has finished and an assessment of the new service is piloted.

Mike Black, secretary of the PCSU's Cambridge HMRC branch which covers Harlow, said: "It is right that everyone should pay their fair share, especially the very wealthy. It is also only fair for HMRC to be available at their local offices to help everyone pay the right amount without fuss. The tax office in Harlow is slamming its doors in the public's face."

"In recent years opening hours have been reduced in our local tax offices. Now the government wants to shift all tax advice and inquiry work into call centres, with people only offered a face-to-face meeting in exceptional circumstances."

Yesterday (Wednesday) union members were due to take part in a nationwide strike in protest at austerity cuts and pay freezes.

The PCSU said it was the beginning of a sustained campaign of disruption, which will include an overtime ban for the next month and further walkouts in April.

iPad donation to help people with autism

EVERY LITTLE HELPS: Sam Fawcett with Tesco store manager Steve Lewis and Diane Harper

TECHNOLOGY is the way forward for one Harlow charity after it received two iPads following a donation from Tesco at Church Langley.

PACT for Autism, formerly known as PACT for Harlow, received the tablets on Friday morning from store manager, Steve Lewis and community champion Diane Harper.

Sam Fawcett, chair of PACT for Autism, said: "These iPads will really help children and adults with their communication because of the apps you can download.

"The iPads are very visual and are touch screen, so they play to autistic strengths and are very easy to use.

"We can now take these iPads into meetings and show parents what is out there and give them a chance to experience the technology.

"We are very grateful to Tesco for the donation. It is very exciting for us as a self-funded charity, to have received them"

Square goes bare for Lucinda's racy hospice fundraiser

A SPORTY student who is running the London Marathon in memory of her late grandfather has boosted her fundraising total after staging a sold-out burlesque event.

Lucinda Cavalier (22), pictured centre, of Latton Street, Harlow, is taking on the 26-mile race in aid of Pilgrims Hospice, where her grandfather, John Gann, passed away "comfortably and peacefully" last August.

To help hit her £2,000 target, the employment relations and human resources student decided to organise a burlesque evening at The Square in Fourth Avenue - and was amazed by the turnout.

"I knew it would be busy because we almost sold out of tickets a few days before the event but I had no idea how popular it would be," she told the Star.

"At one point we had around 150 people waiting to come in as we had filled the Square's capacity!"

Presented by local pin-up model Miss C and London burlesque royalty Sadie Simmer, the show featured seven strip-tease routines and a belly dancer.

Lucinda said: "The acts were all brilliant and the crowd seemed to love it.

"I couldn't have wished for more, and the important thing is that I raised £1,870 on the night, which has taken my total up to £2,500 already.

"The whole reason for me taking part in the London Marathon and organising the burlesque event is to raise money for the hospice, which allowed my grandpa to live his final few days in a comfortable, calm place.

"The existence of the hospice meant that he didn't have to spend time unnecessarily in a hospital.

"My fundraising is to repay a small part of what they gave us."

Join in festival celebrating life

FAITH group Heart 4 Harlow is urging local schools, bands, choirs and charities to take part in its annual festival.

The event, which will be opened by Harlow Council chair Maggie Hulcoop on May 23, will include live music and activities in and around the town.

Bands, dance groups, choirs and soloists will be given the opportunity to perform across the weekend, while charity stalls set up in Market Square will be selling their wares as part of a 'village fayre'.

Heart 4 Harlow leader Reverend Robert Findlay said: "We have a lot going on at this year's festival and are hoping that more people will want to get involved either by performing or having a stall at the fayre.

"We have a lot planned and it should be our best festival yet."

Anyone interested in performing at the Heart 4 Harlow festival can contact Harlow chaplain Reverend Robert Findlay on 07784788072, or email r.j.findlay@btinternet.com.

If you would like to reserve a charity stall at the fayre contact Maggie Hulcoop on maggie.hulcoop@harlow.gov.uk.

Scouts prepared to back a winner

THE First Kingsmoor Scout Group is preparing to raise money for new outdoor activities by hosting a 'night at the races' at The Latton Bush Centre.

The event will be held on Saturday and all proceeds from ticket sales and bets made on the horses will all go towards funding various group activities, including camping, canoeing and rock climbing.

Scout leader Steven Chappell said: "We are hoping to raise £700 to go towards our group.

"We've held fundraising events before which have been quite successful so we hope the race night will be too. The money will go a long way to funding outdoor activities for the children which is an important part of being in the Scouts."

Lottery winner

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, March 15 was the holder of ticket number 866717, who lives in Little Hallingbury.

The £100 second prize was won by ticket number 787546. The winner lives in Epping.

Warning as family pets are poisoned

ANIMAL welfare officers are appealing for information after two cats living on the same Harlow street has to be put down after apparently being poisoned.

The cats - which lived in Rushes Mead - died within a week of one another after showing signs of antifreeze poisoning.

Charlie, a black and white domestic short hair male aged 17 months, had to be put to sleep on Friday.

Just a week before, Charlie's brother, who lived in a neighbouring property, was also put down because of suspected antifreeze poisoning.

Charlie's owner, Sam Ashford, said: "We are all so upset. The cats were part of the family and the children are besides themselves with grief."

The RSPCA is now appealing for information as it tries to establish whether the cats were poisoned deliberately.

RSPCA officer Louise Brown said: "The key thing for pet owners to do is try to detect the symptoms early and the faster you get them to a vet, the better."

"If anyone knows of any suspicious activity in the area can they please get in contact with us."

Anyone with information can contact Louise on 0300 123 8018.

Balloon launch for lost loved ones

MEMORIES of lost loved ones were kept alive at a moving charity balloon launch in Harlow Town Park on Sunday.

The event hosted by TV presenter and Harlow resident Jeff Brazier was organised by child bereavement charity Grief Encounter and saw more than 400 people take part.

They each wrote personal messages on their balloons before releasing them into the sky in unison.

TV star Jeff, who is an ambassador for the charity, was accompanied at the launch by sons Bobby and Freddy. They were there to remember their late mum, Big Brother star Jade Goody, who died four years ago from cervical cancer.

Jeff told the Star: "It was wonderful to see so many people let off a balloon for their special someone."

"It is a great example to our children that it is OK to talk and keep the memory of their loved one alive."

"We want to thank everyone who made it such a memorable day."

Charity founder Shelley Gilbert added: "This was a great way to help children to remember their loved one."

"It engages children in conversation about the person they have lost and helps them to share their feelings."

Advice service showdown set for High Court

THE bitter row over the future of Harlow's Welfare Rights & Advice service is set to be resolved in a High Court showdown with Harlow Council.

Barring a last-minute settlement, the service will go to court on May 14 to challenge the authority's alleged failure to pay "due regard" to its public sector equalities duties for the second time in four years.

HWRA trustees lodged their application for a judicial review earlier this year after the council terminated its contract with the service in a row over unpaid debts.

They have since raised the money needed to fund legal proceedings through private donations and fundraising events.

Chair of trustees Les Coben told the Star: "We believe councillors were not provided with a full costs benefits analysis of the various options open to them. There was no consultation with the vulnerable groups likely to suffer as a result of the closure or, indeed, the community as a whole. We hope that even at this late stage the council will think again."

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Mr Coben added: "Sadly, given the economic recession, the town needs a specialist advice service more than ever. Harlow is one of the most deprived districts in Essex."

It will be the second time the organisation has challenged the council in court.

In 2009, former clients acting on behalf of HWRA successfully overturned the then-Conservative administration's decision to slash the service's funding - ironically with backing from many of the Labour councillors who have now voted to terminate its contract.

This week, council leader Mark Wilkinson said it would "defend its position rigorously" in court.

"The council is in regular correspondence with HWRA's representatives, and despite repeated requests for further information none has been forthcoming," he said.

"Inevitably, therefore, a hearing date of May 14 has been set by the court to decide if there is to be a judicial review or not."

Quit kit helps smokers give habit the boot

SMOKERS were given advice on how to kick the habit when staff from Boots and Princess Alexandra Hospital joined forces to promote a new Quit Smoking programme. Shoppers visiting the Broad Walk chemist on national No Smoking Day last Wednesday were given the chance to pick up a 'quit kit' - and find out more about stubbing out the cigarettes for good. Boots assistant manager Debbie Seymour said: "Quitting smoking is hard and we try to be as supportive of our customers as possible. "If someone wants to quit, sometimes getting help from a high street store is less scary. We always try to keep everything relaxed to make sure our customers can succeed in their aim. "We're very grateful to PAH for being so supportive of our programme and of our goal to help Harlow residents quit smoking."

Naked knifeman spared jail term

POLICE who turned up at a Harlow flat to investigate a noise complaint were confronted by a naked man wielding a bread knife, a court was told.

Peter Lewin (28), of White-waites, was given a six-month jail sentence suspended for 18 months after pleading guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to charges of affray and possession of a bladed article in a public place.

Prosecutor Mark Lakin told the court two officers called at the flat at 8.15am on February 8 after neighbours complained of loud music being played.

"They banged on the door for five seconds," said Mr Lakin. "The door was flung open and they were confronted with the defendant, naked and holding a knife. He said 'If you do that again I will...' and his words petered off.

"He came out into the communal hallway and stumbled over a bike. One officer got his baton racked open. He described Lewin as seething and said he appeared to be out of control, erratic, shouting and swinging the knife from side to side."

After Lewin retreated into his ground floor flat, back-up officers with tasers then arrived on the scene and arrested the defendant.

Defence counsel Charles Corbett told the court his client had picked up the knife to scare off whoever was at his door - and had not realised it was the police.

"He had suffered a history of strangers knocking on his windows and door," Mr Corbett said. "Because of that he was scared and that's why he armed himself."

Lewin was on anti-psychotic medication at the time of the incident but is to be re-assessed after being diagnosed with learning difficulties, Mr Corbett added.

Passing sentence, judge Karen Walden Smith told Lewin: "It must have been extremely frightening for the officers because they didn't know you and didn't know what you are capable of doing."

Witness appeal after cash stolen in burglary

BURGLARS forced their way to a house in Radburn Close on Sunday and stole a two-figure sum of money.

Police are now appealing for witnesses to the incident, and paticularly want to trace one person who spoke with the home owner after the theft.

Thieves broke into the property between 1pm and 1.30pm and took cash from the occupant's wallet.

Two men were seen fleeing the property through a window at the front of the house.

Anyone with information is asked to contact PC Neale Parker at Harlow Police Station on 101, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Pupils welcome new friends from Canada

A DELEGATION of Canadian students paid a visit to Leventhorpe School as part of a newly-formed cultural exchange project.

The visitors from Montreal spent a week at the Sawbridgeworth secondary, in Cambridge Road, to get an insight into the British education system.

The teenagers and their teachers also enjoyed an excursion into London and several trips organised by their hosts.

Their week-long stay followed an earlier visit by Leventhorpe students to Montreal.

A Leventhorpe spokesman said: "The trip was great fun and also provided a fantastic opportunity to experience a different culture first-hand and to share different ideas."

SCHOOLS, shops and businesses in and around Harlow joined in the spirit of Red Nose Day and did something funny for money to raise funds for Comic Relief.

Homemade cakes proved a popular recipe for success as friends Rosie Bennett (10), of Upper Park, and Tegan Lintonbon-Baker (11), also of Upper Park, raised £170 for the cause by baking cakes and cake-pops to sell to their neighbours.

Children at Fidgety Fingers Nursery, at Hastingwood, also got busy in the kitchen by cooking and icing cakes and biscuits to sell to their parents and carers at lunchtime. By the end of the day their efforts had raised more than £240.

Nursery manager Jackie Neagle said: "We're only a small nursery with 16 children but everyone really made the effort to raise money for Comic Relief. The children made and decorated their own stall in our outside classroom and the cakes and biscuits were a real success."

"We also had our children dress up in red or 'ready for bed' which everyone really enjoyed. I'm very proud of all the children who did so well to help Comic Relief."

Pupils and staff at Jerounds Infants School, in Pyenest Road, and youngsters at Kiddi Caru Nursery, in Kiln Lane, decided to get creative with crazy hair as they came to school dressed wearing red or ready for bed, while Kiddi Caru also held a decorated cake competition as a special Red Nose Day finale.

Toddlers at Blossoms Nursery, at Church Langley, wore pyjamas and baked special red nose chocolate chip cookies. Nursery manager Bobbi Chana said: "The children had group discussions on how they can help people in other countries by donating £1 for this wonderful cause and enjoyed making their own paper plate red noses and chocolate cookies."

Over at Dizzy Ducks Day Nursery in the Leisurezone more than £100 was raised when room leaders Hayleigh Camish and Angie Howell sat in large plastic trays of baked beans.

Rachel Kilsby, head of early years, said: "Hayleigh and Angie sat in the beans between our morning session collection and afternoon session drop-off so they had an audience. The children even wanted to join in and put on swimming costumes to get in with them."

Burnt Mill Academy took the fundraising one step further with a whole week of events organised by head of student fundraising Lewis Davis which included two bake sales, a netball tournament between students, teachers and parents and a non-uniform day. Their efforts raised a combined total of £1,242.

Members of Cross Keys Netball Club held a fundraising evening at Mark Hall Sports Centre, which included sponsored shootouts and mini netball games.

School's first textile bin to support Harlow Foodbank

PEAR TREE MEAD Harlow Foodbank has joined forces with the school to install one of its first Harlow textile bins.

Pupils and staff at the school in Pear Tree Mead have supported the charity for four years and hope the new textile bin will help raise cash for both the Harlow and Network Foodbanks.

Headteacher Chris Thurgood said: "The community is very important to the school. We have a community traffic scheme where children need to show key values which they need to fill and get ticked off to gain a certificate. "We're really excited to have the textiles bank here and we're happy to tell other interested schools about it and what it requires from them."

Harlow Foodbank community services director Gary Knott said he hoped other schools would follow their lead.

"Pear Tree Mead are one of the first to have a textile bin and we hope many others will follow," he said. "Some of the clothes will be recycled and some sent to those in need, it's a great community project."

Best feet forward for Kenya charity

HOLY CROSS PRE-SCHOOL Children and staff helped raise £350 for charity following a successful annual charity day.

All the money raised is going towards the Kenyan Children's Project, a charity helping children receive treatment for tungiasis or "jiggers" - a disease caused by a flea which burrows into their feet and hands to lay its egg.

Youngsters at the pre-school, in Traces Road, took part in various feet-related activities including making sock puppets, foot mobiles, walking in jelly and rice and printing footprints on old T-shirts.

Nursery head Ann Tierney said: "Less than £5 will treat and cure the problem for each child suffering from jiggers and the charity also provides them with a pair of shoes to protect their feet. "It was a great day and our children became more aware of their feet and were very happy that they could help other children."

College celebrates National Apprenticeship Week

HARLOW COLLEGE Lecturers and students helped spread the word about apprenticeships during a week of promotional events.

Last Monday the college hosted an apprenticeship fair at which teachers and current apprentices were on hand to talk about the courses available.

The rest of the week saw the college invite local schools, including St Marks and Stewards Academy, to take part in have-a-go sessions in plumbing, childcare, and engineering.

Apprenticeship co-ordinator Jayne Browne said: "Apprenticeships offer young people in particular the opportunity to get on the career ladder."

"There are over 250 different types of apprenticeships so for most people, there is an apprenticeship framework that will suit them."

Youngsters can search and apply for for different vacancies on The National Apprenticeship website. The site is currently advertising hundreds of opportunities within a 10-mile radius of Harlow town centre. For more information visit www.apprenticeships.org.uk.

Easter Holidays 2013

Places to visit  Where to shop  Where to eat

Don't miss out on great places to visit on your own doorstep

EASTER is a wonderful time of year.

This year it falls at the end of March so it is relatively early, but with a bit of luck the sun will shine and it's a great opportunity to look forward to the warmer days ahead and the chance to spend some time outdoors.

With many people enjoying a four-day break from work and the children on holiday from school, it's not surprising that Easter is seen as an ideal time to celebrate and perhaps catch up with friends and family.

It marks the end of the long winter months and it's an ideal opportunity to get out and about.

Whether you're staying at home or planning a few days away this Easter, we are spoiled for choice when it comes to somewhere to go, eat, relax and just enjoy our local area.

From visiting a stately home or National Trust property to taking part in a good old Easter Egg hunt or chocolate 'eggstravaganza', there's plenty of organised activities for everyone.

If you're thinking of letting the professionals take the strain when it comes to entertaining friends and family, why not take your pick from some of the fabulous restaurants, pubs and hotels in the area, many of which are offering special Easter menus.

If you have family members staying, why not take them into town and see your area through their eyes? You'll be surprised at just how much you miss when you're just popping in and out to do your shopping and not stopping to stroll and take in the sights like a tourist.

There's more than you think locally and by staying nearby you'll be helping the local economy.

Start by taking a look at some of the businesses on this page and enjoy getting out and about this Easter.

NOSTALGIA

An epic performance by Harlow Town's cup heroes

As the Watford players lined the tunnel to applaud Harlow off the field while 24,586 supporters joined an emotional ovation, Harlow Town's dreams of Wembley ended in the best possible way - an epic performance.

So began the Harlow Citizen's match report of The Owls' 4-3 defeat to Watford in the fourth round of the 1980 FA Cup. It was the day the plucky minnows' dreams of cup glory died.

But what on paper should have been an easy tie for Division Two high-fliers Watford was anything but straightforward.

Harlow went in at half-time 1-0 up, but found themselves 4-1 down after just 17 minutes of the second half.

Nevertheless, they managed to pull two goals back, and almost grabbed a dramatic equaliser in injury time as Peter Twigg saw his effort cannon off the crossbar.

After the game, Watford boss Graham Taylor had the last word.

"Harlow disturbed us, to say the least," he said.

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE HAWKS' heroic FA Cup run is undoubtedly one of the town's all-time sporting highlights - but football wasn't the only sport Harlow excelled at.

This week Nostalgia looks back on the remarkable achievements of champion diver Royston Horne who, at the age of just 15, was being tipped to represent Great Britain at the Olympics.

Taught to swim by his mother (herself a non-swimmer), he won his first competition aged 10 - and went on to become Essex County Under-12s diving champion less than a year later.

A string of medals, trophies and accolades followed over the next four years as Roy continued to make a splash at both national and European levels under the watchful eye of coach Jennifer Cramp, who had spotted his potential at a junior swimming gala at the now-demolished Harlow Pool.

His astonishing domestic success under her tutorship proved to be the springboard needed for Roy to make the leap to international level. He made his mark at the age of 15 after seeing off competition from some of the world's best young divers to scoop a silver medal at the International Age Group Championships in Belgium.

His progress caught the eye of the British international diving coaches, who invited the teenage prodigy to train with the GB squad ahead of the 1972 Munich Olympics. Yet despite more than holding his own against the rest of the team, he was blocked from taking part in trials for the Games by the Amateur Swimming Association - a devastating blow that still hurts Roy, who now lives in Great Dunmow, to this day.

"I'd worked so hard to get my break, but the ASA wouldn't let me take part in the trials," said Roy, now aged 57. "They claimed that because I'd suffered heatstroke at a recent international competition I needed more time to recover, but I was more than ready.

"It was more to do with the ASA's internal politics at the time - they just didn't want me in the squad. I was gutted."

As the Games approached, Roy found himself at a crossroads in his career. Not yet a senior, he was the number one junior diver in the world but his own nation wouldn't take a chance on him for the Olympics.

Ultimately, Roy decided his future lay outside the pool.

"The Olympics came and went, and after the anger and frustration passed, I just felt indifference," he said. "I strained the ligaments in one of my arms later that year and although I got over the injury and started diving again, my heart just wasn't in it anymore."

He dived competitively for the last time in 1973 before giving up to focus on finding a new career, taking up an apprenticeship as an electrical engineer.

However, he continued to coach at Harlow Pool for several years and was even offered an unlikely route back into the Olympic Squad in 1980 after taking part in trials with Commonwealth Games Gold medallist Chris Snode.

"They needed divers to compete against Chris in the trials so I agreed to help out," Roy recalled. "But he ended up finishing bottom of the pile and the ASA wanted to take me and a few others to the Olympics instead."

"But we all had full-time jobs so I had to turn it down - not that I didn't take some pleasure in doing so considering how they'd treated me in 1972!"

Gherkin in a pickle for April Fool's Day stunt

LONDONERS could get an eyeful if one of the capital's iconic tower buildings is given a wacky new look next month.

Plans have been unveiled to transform the skyscraper affectionately known as The Gherkin because of its shape into a giant green pickle!

Staff at an online bingo site want to cover the 180m high building in a special reflective film before projecting an image of a gherkin on to the tower for April Fool's Day.

Michael Saunders, managing director of the company behind the idea, said: "It's been a long and rather miserable winter and we felt everyone was in dire need of cheering up again!"

He said it would take a team of 10 workers 900 man hours to complete the makeover. Designers have already created mock-ups which have now been submitted to the building's owners, along with an application for permission to carry out the whacky stunt.

WIN Tickets to the Playhouse Easter show

TWO stars of BBC television will star in Harlow Playhouse's family musical, The Lost Dragon.

Laura Main, who plays Sister Bernadette in the hit Sunday night drama Call the Midwife, and Ricky Groves, known to millions as Gary Hobbs in popular soap EastEnders, will be flying into the Harlow theatre this Easter.

The Lost Dragon is an exciting modern musical for all the family, with scenes set in Siberia, Scotland, London, Epping Forest and Harlow.

The story follows Emily, a Harlow schoolgirl who finds herself at the centre of the most incredible discovery in modern history - the emergence of a dragon from the Siberian ice.

Playhouse Manager, Scott Ramsay, said "Laura is very much in the limelight in the most watched show on British TV right now, and she's an enormously talented performer and singer."

"Joining her will be one of the best known faces of EastEnders, Ricky Groves, to entertain family audiences at the Playhouse."

This week we are giving you the chance to win one of four family tickets (four tickets in each set) to the 6pm show on Tuesday, April 2 by answering this simple question: In which fictional London borough is EastEnders set?

Visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk and click on the 'Competitions' link under the Newspaper tab. Be sure to enter 'Star Lost Dragon' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

The closing date for entries is noon on Wednesday, March 27.

Depot closure decision is shortsighted

MANY Star-readers will already know the tough news about Tesco. Sadly, they have decided to relocate their Harlow fresh food depot to Dagenham. This means potentially hundreds of redundancies and job worries for hardworking employees.

Whilst Tesco have now told me that all Harlow workers will be offered new jobs, I am hugely concerned whether or not they will be offered the same wages and conditions that they currently get in Harlow. I am also grateful to the trade union USDAW, which is negotiating hard for workers' rights.

It is a strange and shortsighted decision by Tesco, given that the Harlow plant is one of the most productive in England. Over the last few weeks I have also met with two business ministers, asking them to write to Tesco to make sure that workers are protected.

I have also tabled a Parliamentary Motion signed by MPs of all parties and raised this issue on the floor of the House of Commons on a number of occasions to try to ensure workers' rights are protected.

Finally, I am visiting the Tesco factory today to meet with staff on the shop floor and USDAW union officials, as well as Tesco management. I absolutely believe that workers' pay and conditions should be honoured. Tesco's Harlow staff are long-serving and many of them are supporting families.

If any Tesco employee would like me to help with their specific case, please write to me at halfon4harlow@roberthalfon.com

MY VIEW FROM WESTMINSTER

By Harlow MP Robert Halfon

YESTERDAY, in difficult economic times, we have a cost of living budget. It will help lower earners, families, and motorists. Here's why:

Lower taxes for low earners. From next April low earners will not pay tax until they earn more than £10,000. That means an income tax cut of £700 compared to 2010. Very low earners will be taken out of tax altogether.

Families. From the autumn of 2015 every Harlow working family will pay no tax on childcare. This is worth around £1,200 per child.

Jobs. To help employment, every Harlow company will get a £2,000 tax-credit on their National Insurance contributions. Their business taxes will also be cut to 20 per cent by 2015, the lowest in the western world.

Cost of living. As readers will know I have campaigned for lower fuel costs for the last two years. The Chancellor has listened and confirmed another fuel duty freeze, meaning that in tax terms petrol and diesel are 13p cheaper - although the oil companies still keep putting the prices up. Fuel duty will have been frozen for nearly three-and-a-half years. It is good news also that the Chancellor has cut beer duty.

Harlow housing for Harlow people. The Government is going to help those who can't afford a deposit with special mortgage guarantees and shared equity schemes.

They will extend Right To Buy for those who live in council housing and all the cash raised will be spent on building new homes.

Overall, £20bn will be invested in affordable housing for rent and low cost ownership schemes, which should mean 170,000 new homes by 2015.

No-one denies times are really tough but there is some light at the end of the tunnel.

Unemployment in Harlow is down, 237 more Harlow people are in work since last year, lower earners will save £700 on their tax bill compared to the General Election and local business will create jobs with lower business taxes.

Cheaper petrol and diesel will help hard-pressed motorists.

Council tax rebels in benefit cut fightback

AS thousands of hard-up households are hit with council tax demands for the first time this year, an online campaign is urging struggling Harlow residents to refuse to pay up.

Launched by newly-formed pressure group Harlow Council Tax Benefit Rebels, the website [www.benefitrebels.blogspot.co.uk] advises the unemployed and those in low-paid jobs to ignore their bills in protest at the Government's decision to abolish council tax benefit.

It also takes aim at Harlow Council for refusing to absorb the cut and protect its most vulnerable residents from further hardship.

Spokesman Wat Tyler told the Star: "The Government has decreed that basic benefits will increase at less than the rate of inflation this April, yet suddenly we are deemed able to contribute 24 per cent of our council tax."

"Those on the breadline simply cannot afford it. We say: 'Can't pay? Don't Pay!'"

Because of the changes, more than 5,000 households in Harlow previously in receipt of council tax benefit will be expected to pay up to 24 per cent of their annual bill from next month.

Everyone of working-age will be billed, regardless of their income or employment status, with the only exemptions being pensioners and the "extremely vulnerable".

According to Mr Tyler's group, the only way to force Harlow Council into re-instating a programme of fully-funded council tax support is for residents to tear up their bills in protest.

"Harlow Council had a choice," he said. "It didn't have to demand that those without jobs pay 24 per cent of their council tax bills."

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"Twenty years ago, non-payment and protest brought down the Poll Tax, and we can persuade Harlow Council to back down if we all refuse to pay."

He added: "The ultimate blame lies with the Conservative-Liberal Democrat government. They are using the recession as an excuse to cut benefits, their objective being to drive down wages and increase profits."

Councillor Mike Danvers, the council's cabinet member for resources, said the authority had set up a "limited" hardship fund to assist the most needy - but warned that anyone refusing to pay their council tax could face legal action.

"We have had to take on the responsibility for council tax benefit from the Government but with £1.3m less funding," he said.

"The council faced some tough choices and to fill the £1.3m shortfall would have meant making serious cuts to frontline services along with large increases in our share of council tax."

"Public consultation was carried out and has influenced the final design of the Local Council Tax Support Scheme. "One of the views expressed was that all residents should make some contribution to local services."

He added: "The council will take action in those circumstances where necessary to recover any money owed to it."

Tribute to kings of swing sees theatre branch out

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PLAN to broaden the appeal of Victoria Hall Theatre swings into action next month as the cash-strapped venue seeks to increase audience numbers.

The Old Harlow theatre is set to branch out by opening its doors to music lovers - starting on April 12 when it hosts a glitzy tribute to Rat Pack legends Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin.

Organised by Harlow Theatre Company stalwart Jim Thompson, pictured right, the pilot gig will be a "tester" event that could pave the way for more concerts as the theatre tries to diversify its audience - and make much-needed improvements to the ageing building.

"By offering more than just a play or variety night at Victoria Hall, I am hoping this will generate a new audience for the theatre and therefore increase the footfall that might benefit from seeing other shows at the venue," Jim explained.

Local charities will also benefit from the shows, with plans to donate the proceeds of a regular raffle to good causes.

He added: "The theatre is constantly struggling to get the funding it needs to stay open and make the improvements it is so desperately in need of, so to be able to provide income by hiring the hall, as well as the profits that could be made at the bar, we will be helping do our bit for the local community."

● A Tribute To The Rat Pack comes to Victoria Hall on Friday, April 12. Tickets cost £12 from 0844 8700 887 or www.tpromotions.ticketsource.co.uk.

Audiences in for fright of their lives with new show from funnyman Lee

WHATEVER happened to Lee Hurst? It's a question that some comedy fans might have asked given that the former They Think It's All Over panellist hasn't performed a full stand-up tour for almost ten years.

Aside from a short series of live gigs last year he's been out of the spotlight for the best part of a decade, busy running his own comedy club in London's Bethnal Green.

But this month sees the comic come out of semi-retirement to hit the road with hilarious new show Too Scared To Leave The House - a wry exploration of the fears and phobias which can become all-consuming in our day-to-day lives.

"It could be about literally anything from global disasters to spiders to fear of dying or relationships: anything you can think of that bothers you," Lee explained.

It follows the fast and loose format of previous show Man Vs Woman, in which he knocked around some topical stand-up in the first half before launching into the concept for part two. Albeit his format was forced upon him: Hurst might be a keen fact-checker, but that doesn't mean he would never leave his homework on the bus...

"With Man Vs Woman, I had a bit of a debacle when I lost all the notes so I had to change it into something entirely different," he said.

"I had stuff in my head but not enough to sustain it for a whole second half so I changed it to get the men in the audience writing something down about women and vice versa."

But then Hurst is someone who has always done things a little differently. Shunning the usual route of ploughing every last penny into an annual jaunt to the Edinburgh Festival, he made his breakthrough as the warm-up act for the Have I Got News For You? audience. This led to a regular slot on BBC sports quiz They Think It's All Over, sparring with the likes of Gary Lineker, Rory McGrath and David Gower over six seasons.

Now, 10 years on, he's determined to reclaim his place as one of the UK's most popular stand-ups. "The buzz for me is coming up with a gag, going on and nailing it - that's a great feeling."

● Lee Hurst appears at The Playhouse on Saturday. The gig starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £13.50-£16.50.

JACK THE GIANT SLAYER certificate 12A, 1h54m

THE English folktale of Jack and the Beanstalk is given a smart CGI-heavy makeover in this fast-paced fantasy.

It takes the familiar story of magic beans and a blood-thirsty behemoth as the foundations for a delightfully old-fashioned tale of daring-do replete with a boo-hiss villain and swooning damsel in distress.

A storybook opening sequence recounts the legend of King Erik who, with the help of a magical crown, defeated the giants and banished them to their kingdom in the clouds.

Many centuries later, farmboy Jack (Nicholas Hoult) is heading into town to sell his horse and cart when he encounters a monk (Simon Lowe) bearing a pouch of stolen beans. "These beans have the power to change the world," the holy man tells Jack, "so don't lose them and whatever you do, don't get them wet."

That night a sudden deluge of rain causes one of the seeds to take root and a beanstalk rises terrifyingly into the sky, taking with it Jack's home and Princess Isabelle (Eleanor Tomlinson), who just happened to be passing in the downpour.

When King Brahmwell (Ian McShane) learns of his daughter's fate, he organises a search party including valiant knight Elmont (Ewan McGregor), his right-hand man Crawe (Eddie Marsan), Isabelle's conniving fiancé Roderick (Stanley Tucci), snivelling sidekick Wicke (Ewen Bremner) and, of course, Jack.

At the top the beanstalk they discover an army of gargantuan warriors led by two-headed General Fallon (Bill Nighy, John Kassir) and his lieutenants Fee, Fye, Foe and Fumm.

Jack The Giant Slayer establishes a cracking pace and there are few pauses between the breathlessly orchestrated set pieces, including a first encounter with the giants viewed through Jack's eyes as he holds his breath underwater.

Hoult is an endearing hero who, despite being plagued by a fear of heights, comes to the fore in Isabelle's hour of need. Their romance is sweet, tempered by Tucci's delightful scenery-chewing as the Machiavellian traitor in the royal court.

Parents may want to view the film before unleashing very young children into this fairytale realm because the violence is quite strong for a 12A certificate, including at least one member of supporting cast losing his head between a giant's festering teeth.

However, the bloodshed isn't gratuitous and director Bryan Singer keeps most of the dismemberment off screen or blurred in the background.

THE CROODS (3D & 2D) certificate U, 1h39m

HOME is where the heart is in Kirk De Micco and Chris Sanders's energetic romp about a family of cavemen and cavewomen who embark on a perilous quest to find a new settlement.

Grug Crood (voiced by Nicolas Cage) has taught his family to be afraid of the dark and new experiences. He protects his wife Ugga (Catherine Keener), restless daughter Eep (Emma Stone), oafish son Thug (Clark Duke), feral baby daughter Sandy and decrepit mother (Cloris Leachman) by ushering them into a cave where they will be safe from the prehistoric creatures that roam the land.

But during a forbidden night-time excursion, Eep encounters a nomadic caveboy called Guy (Ryan Reynolds), who tells her that the end of the world is nigh. Soon after, the Croods' cave is destroyed by a massive earthquake.

The Croods join Guy and his pet sloth Belt on an expedition through uncharted territory in search of a new place to call home. En route, Grug confronts his fears about losing his children and Eep fans the flames of romance with Guy.

IDENTITY THIEF certificate 15, 1h51m

SANDY Bigelow Patterson (Jason Bateman) is a mild-mannered accounts clerk who lives in Denver with his wife Trish (Amanda Peet) and their two young daughters, Franny (Mary-Charles Jones) and Jessie (Maggie Elizabeth Jones).

But the family's domestic bliss is shattered when Sandy learns that a Florida shopaholic called Diana (Melissa McCarthy) has stolen his identity and run up huge bills on his credit cards.

Standing on the brink of financial ruin, Sandy resolves to hunt down Diana and drag her back to Denver to own up to her crimes.

He flies to Florida and eventually holds Diana hostage, compelling her to join him on a 3,000-mile road trip with a tenacious bail bondsman (Robert Patrick) in hot pursuit.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WHEN is it a good time to downsize? The family home is cherished by many and it can be difficult to let go of, but no-one wants to wait until they're forced to make a move if they can help it and sometimes a large family home simply becomes unmanageable as the occupants get older.

There are many reasons why older homeowners decide to move house and there is certainly no typical last-time buyer. Some upgrade to their dream property because they have the money or want a bigger home. Others move to be closer to family, especially when grandchildren come along.

But just because you may have bought and sold properties numerous times before doesn't mean you can't make mistakes now. For last-time buyers it's vital you get that all-important last home right.

It can sound pretty patronising when it is first suggested that you should downsize. Many people in their fifties and sixties today are fitter and healthier than they ever were and the thought of moving to something that would suit someone old or immobile is the last thing on their minds.

However, if you intend this move to be your last, it makes sense to consider a property that will suit your final years as well as the next few.

Rather than regretting the move from the spacious family home, just think of the long-term implications and how liberating it can be. Smaller homes are easier to clean and cheaper to heat – something that might become more important when you are not working.

And if you're not spending all of your spare time cleaning and gardening you'll have more time for all of those new hobbies you have planned for retirement!

Local Property Comment

Alan Howick

Integrity's Missing?

One of the main questions asked of our industry is where's the honesty and integrity?

Basically, estate agents are just sales persons, no different to car sales, double glazing or any other commodity, but there is one huge difference we deal with the biggest financial and emotional experience most people face. This may be only once or twice in their life time, so there is a massive responsibility for the estate agent to be honest and fully transparent (a new modern use of the word but a good one).

For over forty years I have enjoyed this business, made many good life time friendships and I am proud of what my agency and colleagues have contributed to in the local market here in Harlow for all of those years, so I do get cross when standards are below what I would expect.

We discovered last week a property claiming to be sold on one of the biggest websites didn't actually exist! This caused a problem with a valuation of a similar property being sold for more money, the surveyor was encouraged to down value due to the misinformation published by this third party!

And what about the rapid increase of for sale and sold boards appearing especially in Church Langley? Last count suggested the best part of a hundred scattered all over the place including the odd tree appearing to have been sold! Strange thing is, less than half that number are real or genuine! This is so misleading and brings disrepute to our industry and our already thread bare integrity.

Ask an Expert!

As you look through the pages of most property-related newspapers and magazines, you are likely to come across one survey or another that seeks to prove how various property improvements add a certain percentage to the value of a property.

There has recently been a marked increase in the number of people undertaking improvements whose motivation is specifically to increase the value of their property prior to a sale. If you are considering such improvements, you should approach such surveys with caution. For example, the public's response to a recent survey as to which home improvements were most likely to add value were at odds with the view of a panel of property valuation experts and Chartered Surveyors. The public's view was that a new kitchen would add more value than either a loft conversion or an extension. Certainly, whilst a new kitchen might be the most impressive of the three and have the greatest initial impact, we would agree with the expert view that an extension, closely followed by a loft conversion, would generally contribute more to a property's value than a kitchen.

This is because, unlike a kitchen, an extension of some description actually increases the size and hence usability of the property. This means that it is likely to appeal to more buyers and therefore generate a higher price for your home. This is especially true where the additional space means that your property falls into the category of buyer above that in which it stood before it was extended. For example, a two bedroom cottage suddenly appeals to the family market once a third bedroom and second bathroom are added.

There are numerous factors to consider when deciding how to enhance your property's value and saleability. Please feel free to call us if you would like to discuss your own plans with an expert.

BY MATT KIMBERLEY

IF you've casually landed on this page and are thinking the Juke Nismo is nothing more than a few red details and a minor engine tweak, there's some good news – it's worth much more than the sum of its new parts.

Nismo is a name well known in video gaming and racing circles, where Nissan's performance arm is as notorious as the likes of AMG, M Division and Mugen.

Thousands of young adults across the country have grown up with Gran Turismo and its predecessors, and could probably give you a potted history of Nismo on the spot.

Until now the name was confined to Nissan racing cars and high-performance models like the game-changing GT-R.

There has been a smattering of Nismo editions in Japan over the years but nothing much in Europe.

Now Nissan says the time is ripe to start using the name more widely, giving a spectrum of models a shot in the arm and boosting the reach of the Nismo brand.

You'd be forgiven for saying that the Juke is an odd choice for a first Nismo consumer car. Not when you delve a bit deeper into it, though, because according to Nissan the sub-brand will be about bringing accessible performance to the

Fact File

Nissan Juke Nismo 2WD manual

£19,995 on the road

ENGINE 1.6-litre turbocharged petrol producing 197bhp
TRANSMISSION 6-speed manual driving the front wheels
PERFORMANCE Maximum speed 134mph, 0-62mph 7.8s
ECONOMY 40.9mpg
CO<sup>2</sup> RATING 159g/km masses in the same way that the old Skyline brought Nismo into teenage consciousness across the globe. Hence the affordable Juke kicks things off.

On the face of it the Juke Nismo is little changed aside from those red details and a unique design of 18-inch alloy wheel upgraded from the normal Juke's 17s, but a lot has gone on under the skin that goes largely unseen.

The same goes for the incredibly well-spec'd interior, which is subject to the same red detailing as the outside.

The front seats are a signal of intent – the large side bolsters on the red-stitched cloth seats don't hinder entry and you can slide into position like in any other car, but once you lean back they hug your sides oh-so-snugly. It's a perfect fit for the average-to-slim figure and leaves you in no doubt that there's more to this Juke than meets the eye.

The interior is flowing, stylish and different, with a comfortably and purposefully shaped gear knob. The only real letdown is the lack of reach adjustment for the steering wheel, but at 5ft 10in tall I found the driving position fine.

A 10bhp power increase over the standard 190-horsepower Juke doesn't seem like much and it isn't, but strides have been made in the outright handling thanks to a mechanical limited-slip differential between the front wheels.

Combined with good steering, a flat attitude through corners and engine tuning that encourages you to aim for the 6,250rpm redline, the Juke Nismo can build up a remarkable flow through and between bends, albeit to a soundtrack that could be more rorty and exciting.

You can bring the back end into play on turn-in, though, and a forgiving nature on downshifts makes it easier to be smooth when dropping down a cog or two, which is always nice.

The Juke is heavily styled and intentionally so, but while the standard one can look a little undercooked the much more aggressive visage of Nismo trim suits the car's shape down to the ground. The bigger, darkened wheels are key to filling out its proportions.

Some problems with the Juke can't be sorted with styling, though, and the boot is still on the small side.

However, there's enough rear passenger space to thoroughly shame a Mini, and rear doors to allow people to get at it.

The Cooper S is seen as a key rival to this Juke and Nissan hopes the obvious extra practicality will make their newbie more appealing as an everyday commuter.

Short gearing and a close set of ratios means that the Juke Nismo cruises at high-ish revs but can handle up-shifts sooner around town, keeping revs and fuel consumption lower.

It's civilised and composed at low speed and gives a better view ahead from its higher driving position than its rivals.

Although you couldn't say the Juke Nismo had everything, it does away with what the target audience doesn't need and gives them more of what they want.

The more you drive it the more impressive it becomes.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF). Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

We seek to appoint a dynamic, enthusiastic and highly skilled teacher of English to lead a strong team of dedicated professionals in this very successful and oversubscribed 11-18 mixed comprehensive school. The successful candidate will have a proven track record of innovation and achievement.

Newport Free Grammar School is a high achieving and aspirational school which places a strong emphasis on student learning. Our 2012 Ofsted inspection noted that "the school provides a good curriculum that is appropriate to students' aspirations and abilities." In 2012 we achieved 80% 5A*-C at GCSE and we aim to keep improving.

Colchester edge clash

HOCKEY

A BRAVE display from Harlow Ladies was not enough as they went down to a 4-3 defeat at leaders Colchester II in the premier division of the Essex Women's Hockey League.

The visitors enjoyed a great start when Emma Tweddle fired a fantastic lifted shot from the edge of the 'D' to put Harlow ahead in the fourth minute.

However, Colchester, who are unbeaten at home this season, scored three times before the break.

The first two came on 20 and 25 minutes and were well-worked, but the third was more fortuitous.

Colchester then went 4-1 up just after half-time, but Harlow kept fighting and scored twice.

Charlotte Byers netted from a few yards on 42 minutes before Smith scored Harlow's third goal on 55 minutes, but it was not enough.

HARLOW: Rowley, Thomas, Trimble, Castle, Spencer, Tweddle, Welsford, Ferdinando, Byers, Stansby, Byers, Smith.

Super Simpson bowls them over

HARLOW Youth Ten-pin Bowling Club came up trumps at the South of England Championships in Dunstable, with Ellie Simpson the star of the show as she won the overall crown.

This year's competition was reduced to a doubles and singles format due to bad weather. The first weekend was postponed, and on the second weekend 16 of the 32 lanes weren't working due to an electrical problem.

Ellie, a pupil at Passmores School, bowled steadily throughout the afternoon's play, competing in the singles event and teamed up with fellow pupil James Long in the doubles.

She had a high game of 176, but James topped this with a 183 game and three game series of 503.

Nearly 500 youth bowlers participated in the championships, at the end of which Ellie, who plays for both Essex U-16 and U-18, was the overall champion in her age group, and alongside James came second in the doubles.

Cramp costs Solomon national medal

CANAAN Solomon missed out on the chance of a medal in the All England Schools Championships when he was forced to retire with severe stomach cramp.

The Mark Hall School student was lying in third place in the junior boys' race at Catton Hall in Derbyshire when he was forced to quit.

Meanwhile, Burnt Mill School pupil Perry Rowan put in a sterling display.

The Burnt Mill School student came 29th in the interboys 6km race and his time was 20 mins 28 secs.

In the junior girls' 3.1 km race, Mark Hall pupil Jodi Ratcliff (14) was 73rd in 12.10.

Stewards pupil Rosie Poole, (13), came 75th in 12.12.

Anderton stars for Spurs Legends

FORMER England international Darren Anderton scored twice as the Spurs Legends team returned to Harlow.

The midfielder, who scored for England in the 1998 World Cup, starred alongside the likes of Justin Edinburgh, John Lacey and 1984 UEFA Cup winners Paul Miller and Tony Galvin as the Tottenham team won 4-0 against a Parsloe Athletic Charity XI at The Link.

The match was arranged by Richard Kingston, who is set to run the London Marathon in April to raise money for the charity 'Children with Cancer UK'.

Anderton opened the scoring on the half-hour mark.

Micky Jarrett doubled Tottenham's lead four minutes into the second period.

Substitute Micky Southam made it 3-0 on 82 minutes, but the hosts continued to attack and forced Clive Wilson to make a goalline clearance, before keeper Gareth Howells made a good save from the rebound.

Anderton completed an assured display with his second and his side's fourth goal five minutes from time, nonchalantly placing a shot inside the near post from just outside the area.

Wet weather hits local football

ONLY three matches were played in the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District Football League as the wet weather hit football.

The most exciting match was the Premier Division Cup semi-final as Hertfordshire Rangers won a thriller 5-4 on penalties against Harbridge Athletic.

This followed a 2-2 draw in normal and extra-time.

Mark Barrow completed an unusual hat-trick.

He had struck both Rangers' goals during the game and then fired in a spot-kick.

Meanwhile, in the Inter Divisional Plate second round, North Weald crushed hosts Frontiers 5-0.

Matt Clarke hit a hat-trick.

The visitors' other goals came from Scott Serjent and Charlie Brown.

At the same stage, Lower Street thrashed Potter Street 7-1.

Alex White hit five goals for Lower Street.

Craig Moss replied for Potter Street.

Winger Das breaks leg as Hawks rescue late point

HARLOW TN 1, WALTHAM FOREST 1 RYMAN LEAGUE, DIV ONE NORTH

ALAN SCOTT
alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

HAWKS assistant boss Paul West Hook was infuriated after Waltham Forest defender Manny Sackey was not sent off after an horrendous challenge which left winger Mitchell Das with a broken leg.

An ambulance was called to take the Harlow Town ace to hospital after the challenge near the end of Friday's 1-1 draw.

Das, the son of former Harlow Town and Bishop's Stortford striker favourite Marc Das, underwent an operation to have a steel rod put into his broken leg after an X-ray revealed a fractured tibia.

He is likely to be out until July.

Sackey was yellow-carded by referee Garry Maskell after the incident nine minutes from time.

West Hook fumed: "I was so angry with the decision. It was a dreadful decision. They need to be more consistent. Stan [Muguo] was sent off at Brentwood. There is not enough consistency."

Harlow were losing 1-0 at the time, but Danny Brown rescued a point six minutes into stoppage time when he fired across goal after an excellent right-wing cross from Ben Hart.

But of more concern was the injury to Das, who was stretchered off. The crack on Das's leg could be heard over the other side of the ground.

The point was the least Harlow deserved but leaves them in the midst of a seven-match winless run and only nine points ahead off bottom club Redbridge, who now have two games in hand.

There was a debut in goal for former Eastbourne goalkeeper Danny Knowles.

On-loan Southend striker Shamir

Mullings started, getting his home debut at Barrows Farm.

Harlow named new signing midfielder Gaz Dauti on the bench.

Hawks had dominated much of the first half but lacked a clinical edge.

Then, against the run of play Forest took the lead with their first real chance on 40 minutes. The Hawks defence failed to clear a free-kick and Jack Leachman's half volley from nine yards out beat Knowles who could only parry the ball into the net.

The Hawks should have levelled just six minutes after the break but from Das's corner Brown's piledriver was brilliantly saved by the Forest keeper.

The rebound fell to skipper Stanley Muguo but he fired wide.

Minutes after Das went off, Muguo

However, Harlow rescued a point six minutes into injury-time.

Dux quack on despite late surge

AYLESBURY DUX 80, HARLOW HAWKS 67
HERTS BASKETBALL LEAGUE, DIVISION ONE

SOME marvellous shooting from Shab Niaz came too late for Harlow Hawks after a terrible start at fellow strugglers Aylesbury Dux.

Niaz fired in 21 points in the third quarter of Sunday's match but Dux had created enough of a buffer by that stage.

Earlier, Dux had good ball movement as they swung it to create gaps on the inside where their big men showed great touch close to the basket.

Harlow created some good opportunities, but they just couldn't put the ball in the basket.

This continued for the rest of the first quarter, giving the home side a 23-7 advantage going into the second quarter, which proved much more even.

Roan Lenihan stepped off the bench and his introduction resulted in some easy scores.

However, several missed free throws from the Hawks stopped any attempt at reducing the deficit going into the half-time break.

Dux led 37-17 at this stage.

The second half saw the Hawks' play improve as everyone upped the tempo which created some space on the outside, and that was all veteran guard Niaz needed as he scored seven three-pointers.

This, coupled with a team effort on the defensive end, resulted in the Hawks clawing back at the Dux lead.

Hawks trailed by nine points with 10 minutes left.

The final passage of play saw both teams trade baskets but the Hawks failed to bring the scores close enough to worry the hosts.

It was not through lack of effort as Russ Allan was aggressive in attacking the basket for six consecutive points.

Dux slowed their offensive to run the clock down to end any hopes of a Hawks come back, as Aylesbury won by 13 points.

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (31), Allan (10), Stonehouse (8), Jones (5), Lenihan (5), Norkeliunas (5), Moss (3), Burgess.

Five-year plan!

We close the gap [above] then there is nothing to be worried about. Ilford got whacked 7-2 last week. They are really struggling. We have to play Ilford. That's a big game for us.

"We believe the way we are playing I just don't see how we will go down. We will pick up points along the way. We are confident. We have good players in the side. We don't look over our shoulders."

It was a very different story 29 months ago as Warren's men went top of division one north with a convincing victory at home to AFC Sudbury.

"Our goals remain the same: to win promotion this season and to be playing Conference premier division football in five years' time," Barnett told the Star back then.

Platinum Sports Management took over the club in February 2010 and pumped thousands of pounds in to transform the look of the club and the playing staff.

At the time the Hawks had been threatened with administration and had debts of nearly £300,000.

But unless the owners can find a way to bring the fans back to the club - attendances have struggled around the 130 mark for much of the season - the 'five-year plan' remains a dream beyond reality.

Snooker ace dedicates win to late mum

SNOOKER player John Brough has dedicated a tournament win to the memory of his late mother.

The War Memorial Club player came back from two frames down to beat Keith Youell from the Stow Club 3-2 in the final of the President's Cup.

The handicap tournament was held at the War Memorial Club in Garden Terrace Road, Old Harlow.

It was a memorable victory for Brough who only took up snooker again nine months ago after giving it up in the mid-1990s.

Brough (49), of Moorfield, said: "Keith totally annihilated me in the first two frames and I wanted to get at least one frame back but managed to win all three.

"My mother [Cyndy] died in 2008. She wanted me to carry on playing when I gave it up. I dedicate this win to her memory."

Brough had come through four previous rounds to reach the final. All the rounds before the final were the best of three.

He said: "If somebody had told me I was going to win it I would not have believed them. Having a handicap system means the same people do not win it all the time."

"It was good to win it. Players came from Bishop's Stortford, Stansted and Epping to play in it."

Looking back as Canons Brook hits 50 milestone

ALAN SCOTT

ONE of Harlow's oldest sports clubs reaches a huge milestone in May when Canons Brook Golf Club celebrates 50 years.

The Elizabeth Way club was designed back in the early 1960s by Sir Henry Cotton, the Rory McIlroy of his day.

Legend has it that he would hit a shot with an iron and wherever his ball landed Sir Henry would say 'stick a bunker in there'.

These days top players would perhaps arrive in a chauffeur-driven limo or driving a top-of-the-range Mercedes, but reports from the time say Sir Henry turned up at Harlow Town railway station accompanied by a single club and was picked up by Canons Brook's longest-serving member Cyril Beaton.

Sir Henry won the Open Golf Championship three times, in 1934, 1937 and 1948.

The Harlow course was finally completed on May 18, 1963 as the population of the new town began to rapidly grow.

The club plans a fortnight of special golfing events to commemorate the anniversary from June 22, which is being sponsored by brewers Fullers and Carlsberg.

The highlight of this will be an open day backed by the Star on June 28 and club officials hope golfers from across West Essex and East Herts will put in teams for this event and try out the old course.

Former club captain Alan Howick explained: "We need to recruit teams. We plan to run application

Lionel Platts, Michael Bonallack, and Peter Townsend.

As club captain I was asked to act as referee and scorer. The scorecard is on show in the clubhouse as are the original golf balls used during the match.

Two years later I was invited to attend a dinner at the opening ceremony of the Basildon Golf Club and was fortunate enough to be seated next to Michael Bonallack - five times British Amateur Champion and later to become secretary of the R & A and since, knighted.

He asked me how Canons Brook was coming along, I said 'very well' and went on to tell me that he had played hundreds of courses around the world but although he had only played Canons Brook the once, he could remember every hole.

He continued by describing each hole from the first to the 18th and concluded by saying the course is a good challenge for pros and amateurs alike and a real joy to play and that great credit is due to Henry for producing the best course layout he had ever designed. There cannot be a better testimonial than that."

forms in the Star. We are trying to build the image of the club."

For more information about the club or its scheduled anniversary events call the club on 01279 421482.

In a series of special features in the Star to commemorate the milestone, one of the club's original members and first vice-captain, Cyril Beaton, looks back to the beginnings of the club and when Sir Henry came to town to design the course and give the new town of Harlow its first ever golf club.

"In 1957 I was privileged to be at a meeting with Henry Cotton, Ben Hyde Harvey and Derek Moule, to discuss the possibility of providing Harlow with a golf course under the auspices of the Harlow Sports Trust.

Henry was given the task of designing the course and work started in 1961.

An empty farmhouse and outbuildings called Canons Farm were considered to be ideal for conversion into a clubhouse, dressing rooms and pro's shop, etc.

On May 18 1963 the course and clubhouse were officially opened and to mark the occasion Henry arranged an exhibition match between himself and Sir Richard Costain (captain) against Ian Large - our first professional, and myself (vice-captain) to be played over nine holes.

Sir Henry considered that some of the other holes were not quite ready for play. It was an unforgettable occasion both for Harlow and myself and for all the many hundreds of spectators who turned out to watch Henry perform his golf magic. He was after all, holder of three Open Championship medals and past Ryder Cup player.

On the 22nd May 1964 the full 18 holes were opened for play and again Henry arranged an exhibition match between himself,

Has 5-year plan bitten the dust?

Forget Conference the Hawks could be in ESL!

IT was hailed as a 'five-year plan' by Hawks chairman John Barnett in 2010 with the goal of reaching the Blue Square Bet Premier.

But two and a half years on and Harlow Town FC are going into reverse and staring relegation to the Essex Senior League (ESL) in the face.

It was back in November of that year when Kevin Warren was in charge and Harlow were riding high in the Ryman League division one north that Barnett put forward his vision of pushing through the divisions so Harlow sat proudly on the top rung of non-League football.

Fast forward a couple of seasons and with a different manager, a completely different squad and a budget cut to mirror dwindling crowds, and Harlow fans have been left with a very different proposition.

Harlow are just nine points ahead of bottom of the table Redbridge who have two games in hand. One team is set to go down in Ryman division one north this term.

New owners Platinum Sports Management have tried various strategies to try and bring income into the football club, at a time when clubs across the UK are battling the most difficult and economically-harsh times in a generation.

But Hawks assistant boss Paul West Hook is convinced the club can survive this season and once again thrive in the Ryman division one north.

West Hook believes Harlow's last away match of the season could be the most crucial one, with Danny Chapman's men due to face second-from-bottom Ilford on Saturday April 20.

He enthused: "We have to focus on the teams above us. We know if

Osagie wants to shine bright in Diamond League

ANDREW Osagie, above, aims to bounce back from his European Indoor Championships woe.

The 25-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member was left out of the Great Britain squad after a disappointing performance in the 800metre qualifier.

He then watched as his Great Britain rival Mukhtar Mohammed gain a bronze in the 800m at the Championships in Gothenburg.

Mohammed clocked 1 minute, 48.9 second in the final – a time Osagie had beaten on several occasions.

A philosophical Osagie told the Star: "I'm happy for Mukhtar picking up a bronze medal at the European Indoor Championships.

"It is a development event and he is a developing athlete so it's good that he's on the right path."

Osagie, of Northbrooks in Harlow, is determined to recover the form he showed last year. He came third in the 800m in the World Indoor Championships before he later qualified for the Olympic final in London, running a time that would have won him a gold medal at the three previous Games.

With the indoor season now over, Osagie is next set to be in action in the Samsung Diamond League meeting at Doha in Qatar on May 10.

Osagie added: "For me personally I am looking forward to continuing with some consistent training now the indoor season has finished, with the aim of a strong summer campaign which has always been the plan since the Olympics."

One in, one out while HTFC target another player

THE signing of midfielder Gaz Dauti has been tempered by the loss of Clark Akers at Harlow Town FC.

Midfielder Akers had only re-joined Harlow in the new year but has quit football to spend more time with his family.

Harlow will hold onto Akers' Ryman League registration.

"Clark felt that football was impeding his family life," said Hawks assistant boss and physio Paul West Hook.

"Gaz has been out for eight months with a cruciate ligament injury. He is not fully fit yet."

Meanwhile, Hawks boss Danny Chapman is close to tying up a deal to bring in a player who can play in midfield and up front.

He could now be forced to switch his attention to a winger after Mitchell Das was ruled out for the rest of the season after breaking his tibia bone in Friday's 1-1 draw with Waltham Forest in Ryman League division one north.

Dauti previously had a spell at Harlow. He has also played for Waltham Forest and Enfield Town.

The 29-year-old midfielder has been out of football since leaving Wingate & Finchley at the end of last season.

The loss of Das (19) is a blow for Harlow. He had impressed since signing in November from Redbridge.

He had an operation at Harlow's Princes Alexandra Hospital on Saturday and was discharged on Monday.

West Hook explained: "It was a clean break. Because he is self employed he has had to get someone to do his work. He has been quite positive. He was very brave when it happened. He will be in plaster for eight weeks. He has had a rod put into his leg. His target will be pre-season.

"The club is going to put something together for him. All his family have been up to the hospital and they have been very supportive."

The Hawks saw their league match away to Wroxham postponed due to a waterlogged pitch on Tuesday.

They are next in action in the league this Saturday when they make the trip to Kent to face Chatham Town.

Centre-half Lee Gledhill (medial ligament) could be fit, but utility player Joakim Ehui has returned to Harrow Borough for treatment on a knee injury.

Forward Piers Wixon (illness) will return against Chatham.

Striker Scott Williams (dislocated shoulder) is expected back in mid-April.

West Hook has been hugely impressed with former Eastbourne and AFC Hornchurch goalkeeper Danny Knowles, who made his home debut against Waltham Forest.

"He was a good pick-up for us after losing Bert [Bossu]. We were very fortunate.

"Even though he is not fit his handling is second to none. He has experience and is a character in the dressing room," West Hook added.
